Union/Non-Union: Hamilton Police Association

Job Summary

We are looking for high caliber applicants who can meet the demands of our community, our officers, and fellow Communications Operators. Successful applicants will be working in a high stress, interactive team setting, performing the dual roles of Call Taker and Dispatcher.

Under the direction of a Communications Supervisor, Communications Operators receive and process calls for service received through 911 and administration lines, and disseminate calls and coordinate a police response, according to the Priority Response System and Service Policy.

Call Takers:

- Respond to and assess emergency and non-emergency calls for police, fire, and ambulance from individuals experiencing varying degrees of trauma.
- Fire and Ambulance calls are transferred; for Police, pertinent information is gathered quickly, and accurately documented in our computer aided dispatch (CAD) system.
- Split second decisions are made based on extensive knowledge of policy.

Dispatchers:

- Are responsible for numerous officers, as they direct a police response to calls for service.
- Communicate information with precision in a calm, clear, and strong voice.
- Continuously monitor police locations, anticipate resources required, and take prompt action, in accordance with policy.

Working Conditions: Individual sit/stand workstations within a large, open-concept office, with considerable background noise and suppressed lighting. Will be subject to external disruptions and numerous interruptions during a shift. Will be required to constantly deal with people in crisis, and work with behaviourally difficult and demanding members of the public (e.g. persons in crisis, intoxicated persons, those struggling with mental health issues, those with difficulty communicating, agitated/angry individuals, frightened/scared individuals, etc.), in an extremely fast-paced, multi-tasking environment. Must be able to adapt to constantly changing technology, e.g. text with 911 calls for service.

Physical & Sensory Demands/Dexterity: Candidates must be able to listen and comprehend information provided through various stimuli simultaneously (e.g. units on-the-air, co-workers in room, public on telephone, etc.) while keyboarding and/or talking and/or monitoring multiple computer/voice radio systems/screens, all at the same time. Position also requires sitting for long periods of time, reading, writing, standing, and reaching. Members are attached to a phone and/or radio for 10 out of 12 hours per shift, with only 2 one hour paid scheduled breaks.

Training: Call taking training will be 3 weeks in a classroom, plus 6 weeks on-the-job training with a training coach following a regular shift rotation. Dispatch training will be 3 weeks in a classroom, plus 7 weeks on-the-job training with a training coach following a regular shift rotation. There will also be a few days of computer applications training.

During the training period, you must be willing and able to commit to reading and studying several hundred pages of manuals, taking notes, completing homework assignments, and completing and passing practical and written examinations.

Required Competencies

The qualities that contribute to a successful Communications Operator are:

- Calm and even tempered disposition
- Pleasant yet authoritative manner
- Ability to work effectively under pressure
- Decisiveness and willingness to take initiative
- Excellent multi-tasking, organizational, and computer skills
- Ability to take direction/correction, especially during training period
- Good knowledge/familiarity with the City of Hamilton and vicinity, including major landmarks, streets, and highways
- Ability to maintain emotional detachment, to be satisfied with not always knowing the immediate result or conclusions of a call received or dispatched, and separate home life from work life

Success in this position requires well developed stress management, judgment, and teamwork skills. You must be able to deal effectively with people in stressful (sometimes life threatening) situations in a fast-paced emergency response environment with constant interruptions and background noise. The ability to interact with officers on the radio, Call Takers/Dispatchers in the room, and people on the phone simultaneously is necessary to ensure public and officer safety. High efficiency, flexibility to respond to changing priorities, and a commitment to continuous learning are essential, as are strong computer skills and the ability to monitor multiple computer screens and use multiple software programs simultaneously.

Minimum Requirements:

- Canadian Citizen or Permanent Resident
- At least 18 years of age
- Grade 12 education, or the equivalent
- At least one year of previous customer service experience in a fast-paced, multi-tasking computerized work environment
- Clear English verbal/written communication and comprehension skills
- Ability to communicate with callers in a pleasant yet authoritative manner, take control of a call, and respond to the needs of our community and members in a prompt, professional, and sensitive manner.
- Ability to learn and comply with established HPS policies and procedures, and exercise good judgment within the framework of these policies and procedures.
- Ability to work cooperatively with others, and manage conflict, when required.
- Ability to organize tasks efficiently in an extremely fast-paced environment, and manage multiple tasks as well as changing priorities on an ongoing basis.
- Ability to work accurately, with high attention to detail, despite constant interruptions and distractions.
- Accurately keyboard a minimum of 50 words per minute (wpm), and utilize computer technology associated with the job, including map reading.

Although not essential, it is helpful to have previous experience in a call taking environment or similar related experience, including:

- Providing high quality customer service while utilizing auditory and visual information, multiple computer software/hardware tools, and standard policies and procedures in a calm and professional manner
- Utilizing highly effective verbal, written, listening, and interpersonal communication skills
- Solving problems, and making fast, effective decisions
- Dealing with people in distress
- Working with behaviourally difficult people

Preference will be given to applicants who have experience in emergency response, distress situations, and/or high-stress call centre and shift environments.

If you think you have what it takes "To be the best" and are interested in this challenging opportunity, please send us a cover letter and resume (all one document, cover letter first, with name at the top) indicating why you are interested in this role, and provide clear evidence as to why we should consider you for one of these demanding yet highly sought after positions (e.g. previous experience in a similar role).

Also, please provide a response to the following in your cover letter:

- Provide an example from your life experiences that demonstrates your ability to work in a fast paced, multi-tasking, service environment.
- Provide an example from your life experiences that demonstrates your ability to effectively handle a difficult person or a difficult situation.
- Rate your knowledge/familiarity with the City of Hamilton and vicinity (including major landmarks, streets, and highways) on a scale from 1 to 10, with 10 being the highest, and explain the reason for your answer (e.g. born/raised here, went to school here, work here, frequently travel around the City, etc).
- Are you currently employed fulltime or part-time?
- If you are currently employed, why are you considering leaving your current position or looking for alternate employment?
- How much notice would you need to give, if you were to leave your current employer?
- If you are not currently employed, what is the reason for leaving your last position?

Terms:

Salary: During training, members will be paid Schedule 8E - $30.393 to $35.758 per hour (As of July 1, 2015); once training is completed Schedule 10E - $34.636 to $40.748 per hour (As of July 1, 2015); will also be paid 14% in lieu of benefits plus 4% vacation pay on each pay.

Applications are to be submitted via the City of Hamilton's Careers website before August 1, 2016 at 11:59 p.m. Those previously tested for a Part-time Communications position at the HPS in the last 12 months are not eligible to apply.
