EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The Hamilton Police Hate Crime Statistical Report is an annual report that provides statistical data about criminal offences that are committed against persons or property and are motivated by the victim's race, religion, ethnicity, colour, sexual orientation, mental or physical disability, age, gender identity or expression, or other similar factors.

The report explains the mandate for the Hamilton Police Service Hate Crime Unit (HCU) and the data based on hate crimes reported to Hamilton Police Service from January 1, 2020 to December 31, 2020.

The report also provides an overview of the training and education that was provided to Hamilton Police Service members with respect to hate crime, as well as the various community outreach initiatives that were undertaken by the HCU.

In 2020, there were a total of 80 hate/bias incidents reported to Hamilton Police Service. This number represents both suspected hate/bias incidents and criminal offences. In comparison to 2019, this represents a decrease of 13.1 per cent. Over the past 8 years, the average number of reported hate crimes is approximately 121.2 per year. The number of hate crime-related arrests decreased to five from seven in 2019.

All events were classified by the HCU Investigator based on the information provided by the investigating officers or by the individual(s) directly involved. The classification and breakdown of the 2020 incidents are as follows:

Classification	Number
Hate/Bias Crimes	8
Hate/Bias Incidents (Overtones)	72

The majority of reported incidents were directly related to racial bias, followed by religion and sexual orientation. In 2020, the Black community, the Jewish community and the 2S and LGBTQIA+ community were the groups most frequently victimized.

Data within the report was gathered from crimes and incidents reported to Hamilton Police. While the HCU encourages the community to report all incidents, the service is aware not all incidents are reported to police.

There are several reasons why hate/bias incidents are not reported. For example, people may feel the crime was not important or the chances of the police apprehending the suspect are low. Some victims see the incident as a personal matter, since it may involve family or colleagues, or there may be a feeling of blame and/or embarrassment about being targeted. Furthermore, the victim may not understand that they have been victimized or they may endeavor to solve the issue themselves. Previous negative experiences with the police and judicial system, whether in Canada or overseas, may also affect the willingness of a victim to report to police.

Reporting hate crimes is an important step in stopping the cycle of hatred and preventing others from being victimized. It is also important for police to be aware of hate crimes so an analysis can be done to ensure actions are taken, including assigning appropriate resources to make our community safer.

Building strong, positive relationships between Hamilton Police and Hamilton's diverse communities is important in helping victims feel more comfortable in reporting incidents to police. Unfortunately, due to ongoing pandemic, in 2020 the HCU was not able to present to various religious and minority groups in Hamilton. The HCU is striving to continue this outreach program in 2021 in order to address citizens' concerns and encourage reporting and information sharing.

INTRODUCTION

HCU operates as part of the Intelligence Branch in the Investigative Services Division. The HCU was established in 2003 and investigates incidents where hate or bias has been identified as a precipitating component in the commission of a criminal offence or in an incident affecting the wider community.

The HCU has been mandated to:

- Conduct investigations, arrest offenders and prepare cases for court in relation to hate propaganda offences;
- Provide investigative support and specialized skills to officers in all other sections of Hamilton Police Service who are involved in the investigation of hate/bias crimes;
- Collect intelligence and maintain intelligence files to enable the monitoring and tracking of known, active hate groups and individuals;
- Liaise with other police services to ensure the exchange of relevant information pertaining to hate/bias crimes and groups;
- Work closely with the Community Relations Coordinator and act as a resource to community groups, assisting with education and crime prevention in the area of hate/bias crimes;
- Maintain and track all reported hate/bias incidents for statistical purposes; and,
- Develop and implement internal and external training on hate-based crime.

CONCLUSION

In 2020, the Hamilton Police Service Hate Crime Unit recorded a decrease in hate/bias occurrences and the same number of hate/bias motivated crime. The number of hate crime-related arrests decreased from seven to five over the previous year.

Hamilton Police Service recognizes that hate crime has a devastating impact on victims and communities. The impact of hate crime is far reaching, extending beyond the physical and emotional trauma to the victim. The HCU is committed to investigating hate/bias motivated crimes and incidents to ensure Hamilton remains a safe place to live and work.

Reporting hate crimes and incidents is an important step in stopping the cycle of hatred and preventing others from being victimized. Hamilton Police recognize some community members may not be comfortable attending a police station or reporting directly to a police officer. A new online reporting tool has been created to allow citizens to report incidents without having to attend a station.

Hamilton Police encourage the community to report hate/bias crimes and incidents to ensure actions are taken, including assigning appropriate resources to make our community safer. Together, we can make a difference in stopping the cycle of hate.
